CANVASS OF SENTIMENT

Attitude of Business Men Toward Statehood

WOULD ELIMINATE RECALL

In a Whole City Block Only Two Were Found to be in the Opposition—Captain Wilcox' Single Handed Undertaking.

"We the undersigned, citizens and taxpayers of Phoenix, Arizona, believe that if statehood for Arizona can be had at this session of congress by the amendment of the constitution eliminating the recall of the judiciary therefrom, such amendment should be made."

Captain George B. Wilcox of the Adams pharmacy wants statehood for Arizona and has not hesitated to state in the local papers that in his opinion the people of Arizona should accept it on the terms that have been offered, namely by the elimination of the recall. He suggested that some steps should be taken to get an expression of the opinion of the people of Arizona as a mass instead of here and there an expression of someone given to the public statement of his views. Acting upon his own suggestion he initiated such an enterprise yesterday by obtaining an expression of the business men on a single block and today he will continue his canvass hoping to have some help in the undertaking.

Captain Wilcox in appraising the Republican of these facts last night, said he was more than pleased with the result of his canvass. He had selected for his first day's work the block in which the Valley Bank is situated, bounded by Adams and Monroe streets and Central and First avenues, presenting to each of the business men he could find therein, the petition printed at the head of this column, and securing the signature of every one who favored it, so there would be no guesswork or doubt or controversy concerning the attitude of this or that business man.
He secured in that single block twenty-eight signatures and found two men who refused to sign it, saying that they preferred no statehood unless they could secure it with the constitution as it now stands.
Captain Wilcox says that if he can secure the time or secure enough help to make a thorough canvass of the business part of the city, he proposes to do so and report the findings to Delegate Cameron in Washington.

In order that all phases of sentiment regarding the matter might find expression, Captain Wilcox had prepared two other forms, in the nature of protests against the proposed elimination of the recall provision.
One of them stated that the signers preferred that Arizona should remain a territory indefinitely than that the provision should be stricken out. The other set forth the sentimental views of those who might sign it, stating that the signers preferred a territorial form of government indefinitely rather than that their right to make such a constitution as they desired, be denied them by congress.

UNCONVENTIONALITIES

"This is a little past our dinner hour, Mrs. Whelkey, but we're waiting for you to go."
"I'm glad you've brought a box of candy this evening, Mr. Feathertop; it will relieve the monotony immen-sely."
"Nan, dear, you'd look charming in that short-sleeved waist if your arms weren't so scrawny."
"Gentlemen, Senator Lotsum wishes me to say that he appreciates the honor of this serenade, but the music you are making is the worst he ever heard."
"I'm not going to thank you, sir, for giving me your seat; you ought to have offered it to me half an hour ago."
"I'd be willing to marry you, Mr.
Squiggles, perhaps, if mother would quit egging me on."
"Au revoir" means "till we meet again," doesn't it, Mrs. Weerins?
Then I'll simply say good night."
Chicago Tribune.

DRAWBACKS.

"The newspapers didn't publish nearly as much of my oration as I thought they would," said the summer lecturer.
"That's the difference between making a speech in congress and outside of it," replied Senator Sargburn. "In congress you can't get people to listen and outside you can't get leave to print."—Washington Star.

HEAT YARNS DIDN'T SCARE THEM AWAY

HEARD MRS. COWGILL LEC-TURE AND THEN HURRIED TO PHOENIX

Piedmont, Kansas, Capitalists buy the Furniture Store of Charles Donofrio

So favorably were George F. Barrows and G. W. Foosehee impressed with a lecture on the Salt River valley, delivered by Mrs. George W.
Cowgill, who is in charge of the Los Angeles bureau of the Phoenix board of trade, that they wholly disregarded tales of the terrible Arizona heat, which were poured into their ears by misinformed Angelenos and came to see for themselves. As a result they have become convinced that this valley is the finest place in the world and they have bought the furniture store of Charles Donofrio, at Fourth avenue and Washington street.

Mr. Barrows and Mr. Foosehee are from Piedmont, Kansas. They were traveling through the west with their families, looking for a place to engage in farming or some line of commercial enterprise, and Phoenix was the first place they found that exactly suited them. They arrived in this city about a month ago and the deal for the Donofrio store was closed something like a week ago. Stock is now being taken and the formal transfer of the establishment will be effected in a short time.

In Piedmont Messrs. Barrows and Foosehee were in the general mercantile business. Last winter their store burned and they lost about half what they had. Instead of rebuilding they decided to go west and look for another location. The previous summer Mr. Barrows had visited Los Angeles and had been very favorably impressed, so to Los Angeles they went. One day shortly after their arrival in the angel city they went to the Chamber of Commerce building and while there they chanced to hear Mrs. Cowgill's lecture. For the first time they heard of Phoenix and the Salt River valley in something more than an offhand way, and began to think of coming here.

Nearly everyone whom they had met in Los Angeles tried to discourage them. They were told that the heat in Phoenix was unbearable; that it was even worse than in the Imperial valley and in summer the place was deserted by everyone except Mexicans and Indians. But they would not be dissuaded and to Phoenix they came.

"The heat here isn't bad," said Mr.
Barrows last night. Those people in Los Angeles were either grossly misinformed or they have an awful grudge against this country. We like it better every day we stay.
Phoenix is one of the loveliest little cities that I ever saw and from the investigations I have made I am certain that it has just entered upon a period of unprecedented prosperity."

When they first came Mr. Barrows and Mr. Foosehee tried to buy the Morgan ranch, north of the city, but owing to a previous option the deal fell through. They next tried to buy the C. H. Davidson store but were not assured of a long-time lease on the present quarters and finally effected a deal with Mr. Donofrio.

Excepting the Dorris-Heyman establishment, the Donofrio store carries the largest furniture stock in the city. It has been in its present quarters about three years and enjoys a steady patronage. The new owners have taken a five year lease on the building, which is owned by Mr. Donofrio. Mr. Donofrio is retiring in order to have more time to devote to his other varied interests.
It is the intention of Messrs. Barrows and Foosehee to conduct it under the name of the Barrows-Foosehee Furniture company. They will increase the stock as time goes on and grow with the city. Both have made arrangements to dispose of all their interests in Kansas. Mr. Barrows will sell two farms embodying 560 acres.

DAILY FASHION TALKS

BY MAY MANTON

A FASHIONABLE GOWN OF PLAIN AND DOTTED LINEN.

PLAIN linen trimmed with dotted makes most attractive gowns and is greatly in vogue. This one includes several new features. The blouse is made with the invisible front closing that is both practical and smart and it is finished with a sailor collar.
It can be made just as illustrated or with a high neck, and when made with a high neck, it can be finished with or without the sailor collar. The skirt is five gored with a slightly circular flounce that is joined to the lower edge. In this case, it is finished with a belt, but it can be cut to the high waist line if preferred, and if a plainer skirt is wanted, the flounce can be omitted and the skirt cut for full length. Available designs are always those in demand, but nevertheless, nothing smarter or nothing more desirable than the gown just as illustrated well could be found. It is simple, it is practical and it is smart. The model will be found an excellent one for a variety of materials.
So long as the trimming material is in contrast, the essential effect will be retained. The blouse is cut in one with the sleeves in peasant style, consequently, it is very easily made.

7017 Blouse with Body and Sleeves in One, 34 to 42 bust.
7018 Five Gored Skirt, 22 to 34 waist.
